

Back-end Systems: Using the EHR: Part Five - Add Supplements

I received this encounter from the clinician, and in the admin notes, there are two supplements to add. First, I'm going to pull up the product using the link. Slippery elm.

I want to be seen: Thyrold is, ongoing fatigue.

There is a slippery elm, but since there is no plan class set up, this means it was one of the supplements that came loaded by default with MD HQ, so it hasn't been used before. I can change this; however, I need to match the current one.

It's a really good idea to make all your supplement names match exactly how it is on the product bottle, so this one will just be slippery elm. It is a supplement.

Then, I want to click here to make the default profile, so this is Now brand. It's 400 mg for one capsule. You always want to put the one-capsule strength here because sometimes our clinicians do recommend different dosing than the serving size on the bottle.

Most supplements are oral supplements. Total doses is 100 capsules.

Now, I need to go back to the admin note. Since there are no instructions here, I'll put the default ones, but if a clinician wants the default instructions to be something different, they'll make a note there.

In this case, unfortunately, the clinician didn't put if this requires future approval or not, so we just put a space for now until we find that information out. Set the profile.

The name needs to match exactly. The code needs to be here. It's a supplier product, a supplement that is purple. Put the retail price for Emerson, which is $8.99. The description is what prints on the estimate, so we want it to be the brand name and then in parentheses the quantity. Add charge. Edit this. Now I can move on to the second one.

Marshmallow root. So, again, I want to search here.

There is something in the system, but it is not set up, so I can use this. The name already matches.

One other note you'll see for something such as mastic gum, once you start to get supplements that would have the same name, it is good to put a brief differentiating characteristic here so you know which one you want to select, and you would put the same in the charge database.
